

NYC Men Teach is dedicated to uniting men of color committed to educating today's diverse student population, engaging in each other's professional and leadership development, and empowering the communities they serve.

Pathway Programs

We are in search of teachers who are interested in supporting the next generation of educators. Educators Rising NYC is a program developed for high-school students that exposes them to the education profession at an early age through weekly programming, monthly NYC Men Teach events, and introductory education university coursework.

NYC Men Teach Summer Fellowship

The NYC Men Teach Summer Fellowship is open to all rising junior and senior undergraduates and post-graduate students interested in working in urban education settings as classroom teachers. Participants will gain experiential in-school experience, network with education experts, engage with NYC students while learning the steps they need to take to become a NYC educator.

Bronx Talent Initiative builds professional opportunities for Bronx community members already working in schools to advance in their career. By leveraging the talent that already exists in our borough, we support Bronx residents who have an aspiration for teaching.

Ed Prep

The Ed Prep NYC program provides paraprofessionals and substitute teachers with professional resources and steps to pursue a career as a teacher.

Community Based Organization Partnership

NYC Men Teach partners with non-profit organizations across NYC that provide opportunities for men of color to gain hands on experience working with k-12 students in a school or after school environment. NYC Men Teach offers professional development and personalized support to participants in search of their best pathway to become certified public school teachers.
